Subject: Re: SWFM Trash Bin

I think I understand...

The idea of dumping SWFM trash in a bin that is "not locked down" is illegal without the rightful owner's permission, I believe. For example, it would only be ok if we trucked SWFM trash to Les' house if he said "ok." I don't think any of us really want to "sneak our trash" into another owner's bin. It will look bad when "found-out", which it most certainly will be, and more than that it is just wrong.

The BID does not have any dumpsters. We pay to have our trash hauled, every time, 2 or 3 times per week.

If the SWFM wants regular dumpster service, some business or property owner is going to have to request and pay for it. I wonder if the SWFM can even get service? We should ask. Not only that, but from a beautification point of view, a decorative dumpster enclosure may need to be constructed. Dumpsters in the middle of a parking lot or another private property space is not the look we are seeking for the BID area.

Sorry this is a little stark, but it's too late and I've been doing this too long today!

Miki, what are your thoughts? (I don't think you should take the FM trash home to Torrance either.)

Thanks Don for looping this through, we do need access to a trash bin. For the first couple of weeks the guys have been trucking out trash at the end of day but since things have been consolidated with one truck and the power washer taking up the space in the back of their truck ..they can't truck it out. I spoke with Steve and he didn't know of a designated trash bin we could use but mentioned potentially just finding bins that are not locked down which has worked temporarily but would be great to find a designated bin. Miki - I meant to email you last week but didn't want to hit you up on your vacation ...

All up, is there an inexpensive solution ...does the BID have dumpsters for all the trash that's collected throughout the area? Maybe they could have access to an existing trash bin? Or if you all were thinking of building one ...we just need it near'ish to the location ..so whatever is convenient ..not sure how trash collection works - but do you all have an existing contract for that and could it be okay to wrap in a bin that the farmers market uses once a week too?

Thanks for helping with this,

Best,

Cynthia
